The Lynchburg-Clay Athletic Hall of Fame was created in 2011 to honor great Mustang athletes of the past. Since its' inception, the Hall of Fame has been dominated by basketball players. The 2018 induction class will add some diversity to the Hall of Fame as the two inductees are most known for their accomplishments on the baseball field.

Joe Wells (1994-1998) was a multi-sport athlete during his time at Lynchburg-Clay, but it is in baseball that he made the greatest impact. Joe was a four year player on the Varsity baseball team. He played on 3 Southern Hills Athletic Conference Championship teams (1995, 1996, and 1998), 2 Sectional Championship teams (1996 and 1997), 1 District Runner-Up (1996), and 1 District Championship team (1997). During his 4 years, the Mustangs had a league record of 46-6 and an overall record of 70-22.

As an individual player, Joe was naturally gifted with a strong arm, quick feet, and smooth swing and it showed on the field. His combined statistics for his junior and senior seasons were a batting average of .476, 61 RBI's, 12 HR's, 18 doubles, 55 runs scored, and 27 stolen bases. He was named to the All Southern Hills League team twice (1997 and 1998), 1st team All-Southeast District team (1998), and 1st team Division III All Ohio (1998). The four years that Joe played baseball is with a doubt the most successful period in the history of the Lynchburg-Clay baseball program.

Aric Fiscus served as Varsity baseball coach from 1997-2010. During those 14 years, the Lynchburg-Clay baseball program won 7 Southern Hills Athletic Conference Championships, 3 Sectional Championships, and 1 District Championship. He was named the Southern Hills Athletic Conference Coach of the Year 3 times and finished with a career coaching record of 182-103, making him the winningest coach in Lynchburg-Clay baseball program history.

Aric also served as Athletic Director from 1999-2006. As Athletic Director, Aric played an instrumental role in the creation of the existing outdoor athletic complex at the high school. During his tenure as AD, he oversaw an athletic department that won 14 SHAC championships, 22 sectional championships, and 2 District Championships.

Over the years, the Lynchburg-Clay baseball program has been very strong, winning 25 SHAC championships. It is fitting that Joe and Coach Fiscus will represent that program in the Hall of Fame. Congratulations Joe and Aric on your induction.

Joe Wells (1994-1998)

Baseball, Basketball, Soccer, Golf

Joe Wells was a multi-sport athlete during his time at Lynchburg-Clay. He played golf, soccer and basketball (where he was named to the All-Southeast District Team twice), but it is in baseball that he made the greatest impact. Joe was a four year player on the Varsity baseball team. He played the outfield during his Freshman and Sophomore years and really came into his own when he took over the shortstop position as a Junior and Senior. He played on 3 Southern Hills Athletic Conference Championship teams (1995, 1996, and 1998), 2 Sectional Championship teams (1996 and 1997), 1 District Runner-Up (1996), and 1 District Championship team (1997). During his 4 years, the Mustangs had a league record of 46-6 and an overall record of 70-22. The 1997 team that he played on is arguably the best baseball team that Lynchburg-Clay has ever produced.

As an individual player, Joe was naturally gifted with a strong arm, quick feet, and smooth swing and it showed on the field. During his Junior year, he batted third in the lineup and finished the season with a .430 batting average, 34 RBI's, 5 HR's, 29 runs scored, and 14 stolen bases. During his senior season, his batting average was .556, he had 7 HR's, 27 RBI's, 26 runs scored, and 13 stolen bases. He was named to the All Southern Hills League team, 1st team All-Southeast District team, and was also named 1st team Division III All Ohio. The four years that Joe played baseball is with a doubt the most successful period in the history of the Lynchburg-Clay baseball program.

Joe and his wife, Kelly, have been married for 14 years. They live in the Lynchburg area with their 3 children Ava (11), Ayden (9), and Jace (5).

Joe batting during the 1998 season.

During Joe's freshman year, he was a member of a team that started five seniors, two juniors and one freshman. The team finished as Southern Hills League champions with an undefeated league record, sectional champions and runner up in the district finals to the eventual state champions Wheelersburg. The team finished the 1996 season with a record of 22-3. As a freshman, Joe had a knowledge base of both offensively and defensively of sound fundamentals and used his strong arm while playing the outfield to throw out unsuspecting runners trying to gain an extra base.

Joe Wells' induction into the Lynchburg-Clay Athletic Hall of Fame is well-deserved. Without a doubt Joe is one of the greatest natural athletes in the history of Lynchburg-Clay. My first experience in coaching Joe was in soccer. I didn't have much knowledge of what had happened in the program before I took over so I went ahead with coaching the team without preconceived notions on where anyone would play. It didn't take long to realize that Joe would be a great asset on the offensive end of the field with his speed and quickness. What I was surprised to learn early on is that he hadn't played soccer all that long. Just like anything he did though, he was a natural. I will have conversations about Joe with people from time to time. My description of him always is something along the lines of "he is the type of athlete that produced at a very high level, no matter the sport or his level of experience in the sport." My go-to phrase about him always is "He is the type of athlete that would be the best polo player you ever saw. It doesn't matter if it is water polo and he has to jump into a pool or regular polo and he has to jump on the back of a horse, he would be among the best."

Even though I didn't coach him in basketball, a game sticks in my mind that I watched him play in Ripley. For a period of about three minutes I saw him take over a game like I had never seen a high school player do before on both ends of the floor. He had several steals and several points. Ripley had to start fouling him because they had no prayer of stopping him. He then went to the line and made several free throws.

For all of the great things he did in soccer and basketball I truly believe that, in his heart, he was a baseball player first and foremost. He never told me that but it was evident watching him. When you see a player on the field that glides, and looks as though his feet aren't touching the ground, you know you are looking at an extraordinary player. At the plate his hands were almost too fast for the Southern Hills League. A game at West Union comes to mind where Joe was at the plate and he hit, what felt like, 27 foul balls. All of them would have been well over the fence if fair. In that one at-bat he almost caused West Union to have to change pitchers. I was so impressed with the foul balls I can't even remember the outcome of the at-bat. I have no doubt that he could have started on any high school baseball team in Ohio. It was almost unfair at times that he didn't get to test his abilities against players that received more accolades because I believe he could have hung right there with them, and outshone some of them.

I truly believe that the best thing that a coach, or leader, can do at times is to stay out of the way. My first year as head baseball coach was 1997. Joe was a junior that year and our team was made up of juniors and seniors. There was a healthy competitive atmosphere between the two classes which, I believe, contributed to the success of that team. People lead in different ways. Some are vocal and some are not. Joe led in a more non-vocal way, going about his business and providing contributions at key times through plays in the field or the clutch hit at the plate. Coaches will sometimes look to their better players and tell them they have to be more vocal for the good of the team. Even in my youth and ignorance my main contribution to Joe's leadership style was to leave him alone and let him lead as he chose. In looking back I'm glad I didn't make a young coach mistake in trying to saddle him with something that might have caused him to not achieve at the level at which he was capable.

It was a true honor to be able to coach Joe. It is a bigger honor to be able to be inducted tonight with him. He has done things on athletic fields that I will ever do. More importantly he has turned out to be a successful man, with a great family, and is a great father. As a coach that is the most important thing to me and I hope that I had some role in that success. I'm very proud of him and I know his Grandpa Bill is looking down on him with pride as well.

Thanks for the memories,
Aric Fiscus, Lynchburg-Clay Head Coach (1997-2010)

Aric Fiscus
Baseball Coach, 1997-2010
Athletic Director, 1999-2006

Aric Fiscus was employed by the Lynchburg-Clay School District from 1995-2010. During that time period, he taught students about the intricacies of civics and government in his social studies classroom. His teaching continued on the athletic field where he taught his players the importance of hard work, individual responsibility, and the value of setting goals. Aric served as Athletic Director and coached JV baseball and soccer, but he made his greatest impression as the Varsity baseball coach.

Aric Fiscus was named Varsity baseball coach for the 1997 season and coached through the 2010 season. During Aric's 14 years as coach, the Lynchburg-Clay baseball program won 7 Southern Hills Athletic Conference Championships (1998, 1999, 2000, 2003, 2005, 2006, 2010), 3 Sectional Championships (1997, 2000, 2001), and 1 District Championship (1997). He was named the Southern Hills Athletic Conference Coach of the Year 3 times (1999, 2005, 2010) and finished with a career coaching record of 182-103, making him the winningest coach in Lynchburg-Clay baseball program history. 34 baseball players were named to the All Southern Hills Athletic Conference team while Aric served as coach. 2 of his players would go on to play at the Division I college level.

Aric was more than just a baseball coach. He served as Athletic Director from 1999-2006 and played an instrumental role in the creation of the existing outdoor athletic complex at the high school. During his tenure as AD, the baseball field, softball field, soccer field and concession stand/storage building were constructed. He was also the boys soccer coach from 1995-1999. Although there was not an official SHAC soccer league at the time, the boys program evolved into a contending team during that time period.

In 2011, Aric was named the Principal of Ripley Elementary, where he stills serves today. His first wife, Jennifer, passed away in 2007. He and his current wife Becky and son PJ reside in the Lynchburg-Clay School District.

Coach Fiscus was a central figure in my life for the duration of my four years in high school as I attended his classes and participated in sports. He was calm when faced with disruptive students, player egos, and whatever else he encountered along the way. In my time as a player, he was always supportive and encouraging, even if I was struggling on the mound, in the field, or at the plate. I can't remember a time he yelled at me or was negative toward me in the heat of the moment. I also had the pleasure of being one of his assistant coaches on the varsity baseball team after I graduated from college. I took away some experiences from that time that I still use to this day as I help coach a 12U travel softball team year-round. His example of calm leadership and enabling players to be confident in themselves is something I've tried to pass on to the young ladies I see week in and week out. Congratulations on all of the league titles and your endeavors in education.

--Andrew Mount, '97

Baseball has been my life for as long as I can remember. I have had the great privilege to have such incredible coaches along the way. Aric Fiscus was more than a coach and teacher, Aric taught us how to be a family man, a leader and that sometimes in life you get "bad hops". Good coaches are not easy to find. Coach Fiscus was more than a baseball guru and statistics analyst. He taught us how to read the game and react, how to have a baseball sense that came natural, and to truly love the game. Now that I am a coach I try to instill the lessons that Coach Fiscus shared with me. I am glad to have had you as a coach, but mostly as a friend.

--James Flowers, '01

Aric Fiscus was not only a great coach that demanded the best out of his players, but cared for their personal well-being also. He instilled many values and principles in me that I still carry with me to this day. One example of this was when my brother passed away and I was having trouble focusing on baseball. He pulled me to the side and ensured that I "the person" not the baseball player/student, was dealing with this unfortunate event healthily. I can't recall the exact words that he gave me, but I do remember that it motivated and comforted me at the same time. This is only one of the many great examples on how this man inspired me.

Congratulations Coach!

--Ky Covert, '08

First and foremost I would like to say congratulations on this wonderful accomplishment! I can now officially claim that I played for a Hall Of Fame Coach, although you were already a hall of famer in my book before tonight. You provided me with the best 4 years of my life in the game of baseball and I'm glad we capped it off with a 2010 SHL Championship title. Those days will always be cherished. Playing for you, I learned how to be a leader and a good teammate on and off the diamond. You provided our team with outstanding leadership and shaped us into winners and great men. It was an honor to play for you, my teammates and coaches Dennis West and Ben Higgins, what a hall of fame group! Go Mustangs!

--Dalton Cox, '10

What a pleasure it was to have played for Coach Fiscus during my high school years. Fisc was an easy coach to play for – his expectations were defined on day one and a culture of winning was established in guys older than me. Baseball is a game played mostly between the ears, and he taught us that physical mistakes are acceptable, but mental ones would not be tolerated. His message never wavered, from a team that started mostly freshman and saw few victories to the 2010 team that brought home a Gold Ball. He taught us to enjoy the moment, because even though that time of our lives felt like it would last forever, it would be gone in the blink of an eye. And it was. I look forward to passing on all that he taught me to the next generation of ballplayers. I'm thankful to have gotten to play for him. Congratulations Coach Fiscus!

--Dallas Puckett, '11

I started coaching with Coach Fiscus as the JV coach and later as a varsity assistant. During those years, the Lynchburg Clay baseball program continue to dominate the Southern Hills Athletic Conference. Aric was a young coach with a tremendous knowledge and respect for the game. His players respected him because he treated them as adults. Yet he had the patience needed to coach young men.

Aric was very good in preparing for an opponent. One of his best efforts came in a tournament game versus Frankfort Adena. Adena was a perennial contender for the state championship. Our team was good but not on Adena's level. Coach Fiscus decided to use multiple pitchers in the game so that the Adena batters would not have the opportunity to see the same pitchers twice. They would constantly be adjusting to a different style or speed. It worked well enough that we were winning with only one out to go in the seventh inning. Unfortunately we committed an infield error which led to Adena winning the game, They went on to win the state championship. Even though we lost, Adena was impressed with way Coach Fiscus had prepared our team to compete with Adena.

Whenever I think of those years working with Aric, two memories are triggered. The first was his rivalry with Coach Veidt at Whiteoak. They were two of the best coaches in the league and year after year would be at the top of the league standings. They both hated to lose but they really despised losing to one another. You could always expect a close, highly contested game with each coach pulling out every trick to give his team the advantage.

The other memory was the road trips and the conversations that passed the time going to and from the games. Those conversations would invariably involve music and what groups were the most important to each of us as coaches. Wayne King, Ben Higgins, Garyn Waits and I would each have differing views but Aric always had only one. He was and is to this day, a die hard fan of the group "Styx". He has seen them countless times and is a fountain of knowledge on all things related to the group. It was fun to challenge his devotion to then.

Coach Fiscus was passionate about the game and his responsibilities as a coach. The program's success was something he took very seriously. His record during those years was one of the best in the state. Congratulations to him on his well-deserved induction into the Lynchburg Clay Hall of Fame.

--Dennis West, long-time assistant coach for Coach Fiscus

Aric and I first became good friends, having went through our high school years competing against each other and moving onto college. We could talk baseball or any other topic for quite a while. This is the part of what really makes him hall of fame criteria. He is a good friend. He asked me into the coaching circle to work with the JV team. Thank you! His laid-back style and his always-thinking mind made him the epitome of analysis (or over analysis) of the game. The time given and his team's records speak to the success that he achieved. His trip to the regional tournament still marks the only time that LC has achieved that goal.

I enjoy recounting the games versus his out of conference arch nemesis.....Adena. I also enjoy thinking back to the stories of in-conference games with Eastern and Whiteoak. Oh, how some of those went down to the last swing of the bat! Speaking of the SHAC, in his 14 years at the helm, he won seven of those titles. Couple that with a sectional or two and a district title. I know several area coaches who would like to have that stat line.

Aric is very deserving of being inducted into the LC Hall of Fame. His coaching career at LC speaks volumes. As a friend, I want to say congratulations.

Lauren (King) Davis (2002-2006) Soccer, basketball, Softball

Lauren King Davis was a multi-sport athlete at Lynchburg-Clay, but she is best known for playing soccer. The soccer teams that she played on at Lynchburg-Clay were trendsetters, doing what no other LC soccer team had done before. She led a group of seniors that were the first to win championships in the Southern Hills League, the Sectional, and the District for girls soccer. This group drew the blueprint for success that is currently being used by the soccer program today.

As an individual, Lauren was also a trendsetter. She was named to the All-SHL team 4 times, 1st team All-Southeast District 4 times, 1st team All-Ohio and was named to the National Scholastic Soccer Coaches Association All-Region IV Team. ## Andy Richmond 1966-70 Basketball

The Lynchburg-Clay School District was formed in 1966 and Andy Richmond was instrumental in putting the Mustangs on the map athletically. While Andy participated in Cross-Country, Track, Baseball, and Volleyball, it was in basketball that he was most dominant. In 1967, Andy started 3 tournament games as Freshman and was instrumental in Lynchburg-Clay winning their first ever Sectional Championship. He would go on to start for the varsity Mustangs for the next 3 years. During those years he accumulated 1361 points, which was the school record until 1993 (and is still second most all-time). He also grabbed 940 rebounds during his career, which is still the Lynchburg-Clay career record. He set the single game scoring record with 43 points vs. Eastern on February 13, 1970 (it has since be broken) and he set the school single game record with 28 rebounds vs. Fayetteville on November 22, 1969 (which still stands). His career averages were 20.6 points per game and 14.2 rebounds per game. In 1969, he led the Mustangs to the Highland County League Championship, was named to the Seaman Christmas Invitational All-Tournament Team, and was named All-Ohio.

During his basketball career, Andy received scholarship offers from numerous colleges, including a call from Joe B. Hall and the University of Kentucky, but chose to enroll at Gulf Coast Community College in Panama City, Florida upon graduation from Lynchburg-Clay. He returned from Florida and lived in the Highland County area until his death on July 5, 1990. He is survived by his 4 children and 8 grandchildren: Toni Richmond and her children Ryan and Cheyenne; Traci Fittro and her husband John and their children Alec, Morgan, and Zoe; Chad Richmond and wife Nicole and their children Noah and Morgan; and Heath and his daughter Grace.
